

2011 Career Day

For approximately 35 years, Saint Saviour has held its annual Career Day. This year, 17 alumnae returned to their alma mater on Friday, November 18th to speak to the juniors and seniors. A variety of professions ranging from the fields of finance, medicine, law enforcement, social services, and fashion were represented. The students chose which sessions they attended based on their own interests. The alumnae spoke to the young women about their careers and the path that each took after Saint Saviour. The alumnae also provided the students with insight into which major they might choose while attending college and the various fields that they might enter after graduating. The girls emerged from the day with knowledge and an understanding of the various careers that await them. In all, it was an exciting day for the students, who were given the chance to look into their futures and the alumnae, who stepped back into the past and remembered how Saint Saviour helped them get where they are today.
