

American Literature: 11th Grade Regents Summer Assignment

Congratulations Class of 2025! Here is your summer book list. We will prepare you for the Regent's exam and it is recommended that you purchase a Barron's English Regents Exam Power Pack to help you study, particularly in the second half of the school year. When you return to school in September, you will be given a test at the end of the first full week of school based on the handwritten notes in your 3 subject spiral notebook. No typed notes will be accepted for the day of the test. Also, you will choose one of the Summer Reading books to write a one pager about the themes that emerge from your reading.

To make the challenge of Summer Reading easier, consider setting a goal of how many pages you plan to read in a day. For example, if I want to read the book within two weeks, I would divide the number of pages of the books by 14 days, and make the resulting number of pages my reading goal. Track what you read in your notebook each day and write down the page numbers you are reflecting on.

*Then, complete the handwritten assignment below.

What will I be reading this summer?

2023 List of Required Readings:

1. Fiction: Their Eyes Were Watching God by Zora Neale Hurston
2. Fiction: The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman by Ernest Gaines
3. Non-fiction: Founding Gardeners by Andrea Wulf

Assignment #1: Keep a journal for each text.

- A. Record the following for the fictional texts:
- key plot events
  - Narrative point of view
  - Conflicts

- Characters involved and their relationship with each other; their personality traits; how does the character change throughout the story.
- Any themes that the authors develop. What does the author want you to learn or realize after reading it?
- Literary devices, such as characterization, symbolism, setting, point of view, motif, irony, imagery, irony, etc. (There's many, many more so show what you know).
- Select and record ten quotations total from the play and the fictional text and explain the significance of each quotation.

B. For the non-fiction book.

- Summarize any major points the author makes.
- Select and record ten quotations from the text and explain the significance to the major points.
- Indicate what issue the non-fiction book addresses and try to make connections to either another text or to issues you hear in the news.

Assignment #2: The One Pager. After you complete your handwritten journal which will be used for an open book test at the end of the first full week of school, write a one-page composition (300-500 word essay) with a thoughtful response about one of the books you've read on a Google Doc (12 pt. Font, Times New Roman, Double Spaced with the heading). This will be uploaded onto Google Classroom when you are given the link to your page during the first week of school.

How will this be used in the Fall?

Your written response and your ability to discuss it in class will be one of the first impressions I will have of your current writing style. More details will be provided in the first week of class.

**Every student is expected to complete these assignments and they will be due at the end of the first week of school.****

Note: Here are some local places to buy your books besides ordering it online.

- Barnes & Noble bookstore (on 7th Ave. & 6th Street)
- Greenlight Bookstore 686 Fulton St, Brooklyn, NY 11217
- Troubled Sleep, 129 6th Avenue, Brooklyn (used bookstore/cheaper)
- HousingWorks. Various locations; Not all of them have a used bookstore section so check their website or call before visiting.
- The Community Bookstore, 143 7th Avenue.
- Books are Magic, 225 Smith Street, Brooklyn
- The Strand Bookstore, the corner of 12th Street and Broadway in Manhattan. This is the most iconic bookstore in New York City and it's completely worth the trip. Many of the books on the shelves are used and you can get them cheaper.

Now, find a great spot to read outdoors! Try the Brooklyn Bridge Park in DUMBO, the Brooklyn Heights Promenade, and Prospect Park!

- Too hot to read outside? Try the Brooklyn Public Library; The Central Branch has a small cafe with seats on the first floor. You might also be able to borrow your required reading there too. Ask the Reference Library where the Summer Reading books are located.
