Confidence. Leadership. Friendship. Enthusiasm. This is Saint Saviour High School.

WHY CHOOSE AN ALL-GIRLS SCHOOL?

According to a recent study from the Higher Education Research Institute (HERI) at the University of California, Los Angeles, there are significant advantages for girls' school graduates as they enter university. According to the researchers, the data reveals "a consistent portrait of girls' school graduates who are more engaged academically and socially than their co-educated peers." (NCGS.org, Feb 2019)

Girls' schools are leading the way in closing the gender gap in STEM. Graduates of girls' schools report greater confidence than co-educated peers in their ability to use technical science skills, understand scientific concepts, generate a research question, explain study results, and determine appropriate data collection. (NCGS.org, Feb 2019)

Demonstrating the value of giving back to her community, graduates of girls' schools are more likely than co-educated peers to have a goal to participate in community action and environmentally minded programs and be more likely committed to social improvement. (NCGS.org, Feb. 2019)
