

The Corning Museum of Glass Studio Art Classes - Corning, NY

Monday & Tuesday, April 23 -24, 2018

THE STUDIO Each year The Corning Museum of Glass hosts more than 1,000 students in its glassmaking classes. Students will immerse themselves in glass at The Studio of The Corning Museum of Glass, an internationally renowned facility that offers glassmaking classes for a variety of skill levels and techniques. The Studio is one of the best glassmaking schools in the world. When you take a class here you'll receive great instruction by top glassmakers, you'll be able explore the Museum's glass collection to inspire your work, and you'll have access to the Museum's unparalleled collection at the Rakow Research Library. You also become part of the supportive community of artists and students who work with glass in Corning.

Students must report promptly to school by 6:45 am on Monday, April 23. Once attendance is taken, we will board the bus and leave immediately at 7:00 am. We will not wait for anyone. Money will not be refunded. We cannot miss our allocated time at the museum, and we need 4 to 4 ½ hours of travel time to reach our destination. Once we arrive at the museum, we will register and proceed to the cafe for a light pizza lunch. That will be followed by three different workshops in glass making and a guided tour of the grounds which includes a live hot glass demo.

Glass Workshops: Each student will make a hot glass sculpture, fuse a wind chime and sandblast a drinking glass.

We will depart from the museum at 5:00 pm and check into the Holiday Inn Express at Painted Post, NY. We will go as a group to Denny's for dinner. Students will pay for their own meals.

Tuesday morning, we will have breakfast at the hotel, and proceed back to the Corning Museum. Students will have time to visit five different exhibits in the Contemporary Art + Design Galleries, explore the Innovation Center, attend live demos and browse through a varied array of hundreds of items in the glass shop. We will pick up our creations made on Monday, which have cured overnight and start our return trip home. Departure time from Corning will be approximately 3:00 pm. Arrival back at school should be around 8:00 pm.
